I grew up in Connecticut. I found my way to California after college to get a master's degree in television and film, and to work in the entertainment industry. After 10 years, in 1991, I wanted to come back East, and so I moved to New Haven, the most exciting city in the state. I have been making documentary films here ever since.

I am intrigued by the process of piecing images together, then adding music, graphics, narration, dramatic readings, and sound effects to create a new reality, a thing that viewers have never seen before that may not only delight and entertain, but also educate and even inspire children to learn, visitors to travel, and people to care.
